

Aaron Wells is a writer and photographer, originally from Seattle, Washington, and now living near Phoenix, Arizona.

In 2017 he was selected by the City of Burien, Washington to provide the cover photograph for their 2017 Spring Recreation Guide, distributed to 10K+ local residents, highlighting a newly developed local dog park. In 2018 he was again selected to provide photographs of public events and area parks for print and online publication.

His breaking news coverage and iconic local photographs have frequently been selected for print, online, and on-air publication by local and national media outlets.

Aaron is the former Communications Director of a Los Angeles-area Chamber of Commerce and, in addition to real estate and landscape photography, has been involved in media and publishing for the past 28 years.

An avid animal lover, Aaron shares his many photography adventures with his blind rescue dog, Cassie, a Treeing Walker Coonhound.

Follow their adventures on Instagram and Twitter @imagesbyaaron or visit his online gallery at <https://www.aaronwellsphotography.com>.

"Among the many things I enjoy about real estate photography is the opportunity to explore truly incredible homes with the privilege of highlighting the unique and inspiring features within."